The prayer of a Pilgrim

O Lord of the absurd why did you birth me into being with not enough answers to fill my questioning heart?

I am a pilgrim, Lord,
I'm looking for a home.
I'm death in search of life.
I'm life in search of death.

O Lord of the absurd
empty me of the meaninglessness that stands between death and life.
Empty me of all this unbirth.

O Lord of the absurd
teach me how to die
so I can truly live.

Gandhi

We were host to our first Foróige interclub quiz last Friday night in Glenamaddy Community Centre. 3 visiting clubs attended—Barnaderg, Ballymacward & Mountbellew—and 136 members participated. We congratulate Mountbellew on winning the quiz and thank Mary & Paddy Pettit and committee for their excellent hall facilities and generous donation to the charity. Thanks also to Pat Glavey for doing an excellent MC job on the night, to Glenamaddy Credit Union for their spot prizes and the many leaders and parents for taking time out to organise and supervise the very enjoyable event. Last but not least, the 136 members themselves who were all an absolute credit to their clubs and parents. €422 was raised for the Irish Handicapped Children's Pilgrimage

Invitation

The fire is lit,
the table set,
the door stands open.
Come to eat and drink,
come to be part of the community, come to be part of a worldwide communion of those who trust in Jesus.

Come round the table
saint and sinner,
stranger and friend,
to break bread,
to share wine,
prepared and poured for you.

In sharing the symbols of life blood spilt and body broken, become one with Christ and with all those, who, hurting, yearn for healing today.

Come, here is food for your healing, bread and wine for your journey.
Come to be full-filled by God, the Giver and Lover of all.

Do not be afraid for I am with you.
I have called you by name, you are mine.
