Dear Liam,

I can't tell you how thrilled I was to receive your email this morning. It's always good to hear from an old friend. Yes, we should definitely meet up soon but I know it's been difficult with our schedules meaning we are on opposite weekends. I'm very excited about your plans to move back to Galway. I know you love it there and I also know how much you've hated living in Tipperary this last while. I too am very unhappy in my current location, as you know I've been in Dublin for the past 24 months and I don't mind telling you I'm well sick of the place. I don't want to say too much just yet, I've a tough couple of weeks ahead but if everything goes my way I should be moving back to Mayo before the end of the month. I'm really excited, it's been on the cards for a while but I officially started packing my bags last Sunday. It's a long time since I've lived there but I love Mayo and I know I'll get a rapturous welcome home, as will you I'm sure when you return to Galway. Exciting times for us my friend, I pray it all works out for the both of us and we will shortly be neighbours in the beautiful West of Ireland. I wish you all the best, my love to you and all the McCarthys.

Your good friend,
Sam Maguire.
